Prelude To St. Pat's
A Little Bit Of Ireland

Begorrah! It's St. Pat's

Sure'n it was like a little bit of Ireland at the Convent adjoining St. Edward Hospital Thursday as nine Irish nun's, Father Pat Johnson and his mother, Mrs. Mary K. Johnson.

The vivacious Mrs. Johnson is the closest link to Ireland. She is on a six-week visit from her native land, a welcome guest of her two sons, Father Pat of Cyclone, and Father Oliver of West.

The sound of Irish brogue and gentle jesting was a fitting prelude to Tuesday's celebration of St. Patricks Day. The St. Edward's nuns are ready for the day with Shamrocks from Ireland keeping fresh in the convent refrigerator.

Sister Aloysius, senior at the hospital in length of residence, will attend church services Tuesday morning just as they did in their native Ireland. "It is a religious holiday, much like Sunday, in Ireland," she said. The institution of St. Patricks Day parades and St. Partricks Day parties were an American addition to the annual celebration.

The Shamrock is an important part of the celebration, Sister Alovsius pointed out. "St. Patrick had trouble explaining the Trinity to the heathen Irish (in about 430 A.D.), so he used the shamrock as an illustration of Trinity, the "three leaves on one stem."

St. Patrick is also credited with driving the snakes out of Ireland. Though historians now descredit this, it remains a favorite Irish folk story.

Wherever St. Patrick went, he always had a big bass drum. On the day appointed for the banishment of the snakes, great crowds of people gathered on the hillside to see the show.

The saint arrived with a great roar of drum-beating. As he walked up the hill the drum was beaten so hard that it burst. The people gasped in disappointment, because they believed that without his drum St. Patrick would not have much power. To add to their doubts, a black snake suddenly appeared and glided down the hill.

Then the miracle happened. An angel appeared from the sky and patched the drum. The people listened to the saint's sermon on the banishment of the snakes. The drum was beaten with zest. The snakes disappeared.

The Irish colony at St. Edward's now includes Sister Leline of County Cork, Sister Alysius of County Alway, Sister Mel from County Westmeath, Sister Patronilla from County Tipperary, Sister Lelia from County Clare, Sister Kostka of County Offaly, Sister Incarnata from Dublin City, Sister Justus from County Kerry and Sister Brendon, from Ireland once removed, her parents are from County Sligo.

All endorse a favorite Irish blessing:

Health and long life to you,
Land without rent to you,
A child every year to you,
And may you die in Ireland.

School Rule Poses Hairy Questions

Six Yoe High students expressed their unhappiness with the School Board's ruling on dress and hair, and board members explained their side of the issue at the Thursday night trustee meeting.

The students, all boys, were led by Johnny Mann, YHS senior, whose letter to the Board was read by President Coleman Duncum. Other students present at the meeting were Bill Perrin, Ronnie Richardson, A. J. Hurtik, John Miller, and Floyd Lynch.

In his letter, Johnny said he'd been told to get a haircut and trim his sideburns or he'd be dismissed from school. He said he was standing for what he believed was right -- that his life should be controlled by his parents, who were trying to teach him to make his own decisions.

"It's not the hair," his letter said, "but the attention given to this thing."

"This board is dedicated, and so is the administration and faculty, to think of the child first, to give every child a good education," Duncum stated. "We have to have rules and regulations or we lose discipline, and when we lose discipline, we lose all."

Now
With F.M.I.

This columnist and this newspaper agree with the right of a parent and school patron who properly asks some attention to the teaching in his son's fourth grade before the Cameron School Board.

What this parent is talking about is quality in public classroom education. What is so often lost in the board rooms of school district trustee meetings is communication with people who "go through channels" to a point, but find those channels clogged with professional bric - a - brac and double talk.

It is a fact that public education is at least as concerned with classroom psychology as with subject matter. That tends to reduce attention to subject matter approximating half.

It is a fact that quality in education is a goal of the White House incumbency, and it is a fact that meaningful education, or the need of it, has brought the students into the quadrangles of the megaversities.

It is going to bring more parents into the board rooms and classrooms as well. It is about time.

Personal experience has demonstrated to thiswriter that public education is oriented quantitatively, by necessity, but is trying to do too much too often, quite often, doing too little too late.

Irreparable loss occurs every year when the norm of an educational process stymies the creative and slows the gifted.

Attitude toward capable children early in life often is 180 degrees out. Einstein, the physicist, at 18, was considered somewhat of dimwit in his school, but altered physical science and our lives. Churchill, the war leader-prime minister, had difficulty in prep school with almost all of his subjects, but became the 20th Century's great man of the first half century, a Nobel Laureate in history and master of the English language.

The Cameron Independent School District has a $63,000 operating balance at this writing. Good. Put it to use in the classroom.

Let's put some bonus on classroom performance as well as performance on the gridiron and skull session. Let's get some expert counseling in Cameron Independent School District.

Let's listen to the drumbeat for quality that will soon be deafening in the improving small school districts like Cameron and Rockdale and other growing Central Texas communities.

Your kids, my kids, need all the competent attention possible. They need quality and judgement in their lives if they are going to survive the sweep of change and unrest of this industrial nation and this industrializing state.

And they need it now.

Yoe Cagers Lead All-District Team

Camerons's Robert Brashear and Johnny Steamer lead the 19-AA All-District squad selected by district coaches on Wednesday.

Willie White was named to the second team and Jerry Richardson and Ken McLerran received honorable mention on the All-District basketball lineup.

Rounding out the first team are Jewel Dearman, 6-foot senior from Caldwell; Todd Walker, 6'5 senior from Georgetown, and Round Rock's 6'4 Bryan Reinhardt, sophomore.

Named to the second team were James Butler, Caldwell senior; Earl Shelton, Westlake freshman, Albert Nuniz, Elgin senior, Larry Moore, Georgetown senior, and Mark Coward, Round Rock junior.

Honorable mentions went to Ralph Behrend of Elgin, Raymond Bullard of Caldwell, Chris Walsh of Round Rock, Leonard Wilson of Elgin, Paul Lindholm of Georgetown, Harry Matejke of Caldwell, and Scott Whitlow of Round Rock.

Brashear, Yoe's 5'10 junior, totaled 535 points for the season, including 186 in district play. His season average was 17.3

Steamer, who at 6'1 tops the Yoemen squad in height, ended the season with 373 points, 162 scored in district play, for a 12.0 average.

Senior Willie White finished with a 9.7 average, 300 points for the season with 124 in district games. Richardson totaled 185 for a 6.1 average and McLerran 76 for 5.0. Both are juniors.

19-AA ALL-DISTRICT HONORS go to five Yoe cagers this year. From left, Willie White was selected for the second team by district coaches; Robert Brashear, first team; Jerry Richardson, honorable mention; Johnny Steamer, first team; and Ken McLerran, honorable mention. Coach Ron Murdock led the Yoemen to the bi-district championship.

Time Gets Short For Car Owners

Two deadlines for vehicle owners are getting close -- the April 1 deadline for getting 1970 license plates and the April 15 deadline for safety inspection.

The new method of registering vehicles, using a three-part card form mailed by Texas Highway Department, makes it easy and fast to obtain license plates this year.

However, some vehicle owners will again have to stand in line if they wait until the last day or two before the deadline, the Highway Department said.

Inspection stickers have a new look for 1970, and a new place on vehicle windshields.

A numeral representing the month inspection is due will be on the new stickers, which are placed in the lower left corner of the windshield instead of the right.

For instance, if you have your car inspected this month, a sticker with the numeral 3 will be put on the windshield, and the car will be due for inspection in March of 1971.

This will be the last year for the April 15 deadline on vehicle inspections.

An increase from $1.75 to $2 was given for the inspection fee to compensate for additional items included in the present inspection law.

Inspectors will visually examine mufflers, resonators, tail pipes, exhaust pipes and supporting hardware for loose or leaking jounts, holes or leaking seams and to make certain that all parts are securely fastened to the vehicle.

Trustees View Taxes, Teachers

Taxpayers in Cameron school district will have to wait a little longer before they know how much their 1970 taxes will be, according to School Board discussion Thursday night.

Taxes, teachers, and the board's ruling on dress and hair took up the majority of the three and one-half hour meeting. (See story, this page, on dress and hair ruling.)

Also on the agenda was selection of election judge and board of equalization, approval of textbooks, and drawing for ballot places for the April 4 school election.

The 1970 tax rate cannot be set until evaluations are in and Cameron schools receive their local fund assignment (the amount CISD pays in order to receive State funds).

The 1970-71 school budget must also be drawn up before the tax rate is set, trustees said.

Trustees noted that taxes will be higher -- but how much higher is still the question. The Board voted unanimously in November to raise property valuations from 25 percent to 50 percent of fair market value, and to lower the tax rate from its present $1.50 per $100 valuation.

Rates ranging from 90 cents to $1 were discussed, but no decision was made.

Board members heard Andrew Youngblood express his dissatisfaction with his son's progress in elementary math. Youngblood said he was "not alone in this."

Board President Coleman Duncum said this was an administrative problem, and advised parents to first contact their child's principal, then if the situation is not cleared up to contact the superintendent. If a parent is still not satisfied, he should take the matter to the School Board.

Supt. D. R. Dodson said difficulties had been experienced this school year with two principals in new situations and "teachers in the wrong slot."

Some trustees expressed surprise that all principals had recommended teachers for re-election without "one word of criticism." Board member Dr. John Martin asked if teachers are tested, and Supt. Dodson said no.

Trustee Hilliard Thomas said the math problem also exists in junior high school.

In other business, Gene Smitherman was elected to serve on the board of equalization with present members John A. Smith and Hugo Aigner.

Felix Matula was named to serve as judge in the April 4 election. Places on the trustee ballot were drawn with Mrs. Reeves Brown first on the list of five candidates for three positions, followed by Forrest Sapp, Dr. John Martin, Charles McDermott, and Bentley Hause.

Board members also discussed recent efforts of Academy, Rogers, and Buckholts on a proposed consolidation of the three school districts.

Duncum added, "We don't think we've been too hard on you, and we are very pleased with our young people in Cameron. The rules are not detrimental to you."

In the discussion that followed, Ronnie said the ruling came from the Board's estimate of what is "good," and he thought parents should decide "instead of you setting the rule."

"Your parents elected us to this Board to set policies," Duncum said, "they trusted these men to do the best they can, so that's what you come up with."

Supt. Dodson told the boys they project an image -- to younger boys, and to visitors coming to Cameron.

Bill Perrin, president of the student council, said the Board needs opinions of students and said the rule "is very unpopular at Yoe High."

He drew a laugh when he added, "I bet you haven't seen anyone get smarter when they got their hair cut."

The policy decision about dress and hair was made at the request of school administrators, Board members told the group.

"There is not a single policy of this board that is not subject to change,' Hilliard Thomas told the boys. "If you can tell us where to change it, how to change it, and then submit it for consideration."

Ronnie was asked if he felt there should be no policy. "No sir," he said, "people feel that it should be changed."

"Don't tear it down unless you can suggest a change," Thomas said.

Ronnie said students wanted to have some representation when guidelines were made. Thomas said the Board welcomed consultation with the administration and student body, and added his approval of the way the boys brought the matter up at the meeting.

A hundred high school students had signed their willingness to come to the board meeting, Johnny said, to discuss the rule. Charles McDermott asked him what percentage of the 1600 Cameron student body objected to the rule.

Bill said he could take a poll, but it wouldn't be conclusive, because "how many first graders can grow sideburns?"

TJC DEAN LISTS MISS SCHNEIDER OF BURLINGTON

TEMPLE

Karen Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Schneider of Burlington, has been named to the dean's list at Temple Junior College, where she is a freshman.

To be so honored, a student at the 43-year-old public college must have at least three A's and two B's in a normal student load of five courses.

Miss Schneider was valedictorian of the 1969 class at Rogers High School and a member of the National Honor Society. Named Miss RHS and senior candidate for homecoming queen, she served as an officer of the FHA two years and was a member of the newspaper staff.

In addition to making high grades in her college work, she holds a part-time job in the office of a Temple optometrist.

UT REVUE WINS DEFENSE CITATION

The University of Texas Drama Department has been cited for "patriotic service" by the U.S. Department of Defense.

The University department was awarded a Certificate of Esteem for its role in sending a troupe of drama students on a USO tour last summer to entertain American GIs stationed in the East and West Mediterranean Commands.

"Here's US!" was the title of the fast-paced revue the UT students presented while they were abroad for 12 weeks.

He Always Heals
A robust man you are today, Full of vigor, vitality and vim; But through some common stroke of fate, Now, you must depend only on Him. Yet, when your stretcher rolls into your ward,
The great physicians will do their best; Their skills and tools will work in rhyme, But to really heal, "It Takes God Every Time."
Ancient man believed demons and unclean spirits caused our ills and they, along with us, believe that only a great and good power can drive out these evil things.
Our hats are off to physicians, surgeons, nurses and all the wonderful healing fraternity. They are God's assistants, but they would be the first to join the Psalmist of old in saying, that it is God, "who healeth all my diseases."
We must have God. We might find Him in the little church on the corner. Have you tried? To really Heal, It Takes God Every Time.
You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

A BACKED - UP TOWNHOUSE GROUP has been proposed by Aluminum Company of America. The townhouses are constructed from factory-built, three-dimensional modular service cores for two living units. The modules, in conjunction with floor, wall, ceiling and roof panels, define economical space that can be freely planned and enclosed with a wide variety of exterior materials.

FESTIVAL PLANS NOW COMPLETE

St. Monica's Ladies met Tuesday night for a regular meeting. It was reported that all plans are made for the annual Festival to be held Thursday, April 23.

Plans include a chicken - in - basket supper. Time for the supper will be announced later.

A report on the Catholic Women Institute held in Salado was given by Mrs. Charles Chandler. She gave a brief summation of the new structure of the Council, and had kits for each chairman to work with.

The new chairmen will meet before the Ladies April meeting. Each member is asked to decide which commission she is interested in and let Mrs. Chandler know.

The meeting ended with installation of new officers.

Sense Not So Common . . .

The subject was hair.

A group of Yoe High School students Thursday night presented concern about the Cameron Board's decision on limiting sideburns to a length down to mid-earlobe.

The CISD board, through individual comment and question, explained their reasoning and showed appreciation for the student position, pointing out, among other things, the articulate young spokesmen's hair varied in length under the present ruling.

The discussion with the YHS youngsters, student leaders from three grade levels, was opened by John Mann, who presented a letter stating reasons for questioning the policy. It was enlightening, we believe, for board member and student.

The students, part of 100 in YHS said by young Mann who would have appeared with the five there, came away with Board recommendation to draw up with faculty assistance an alternative proposal to the Board's previous ruling, which already had been modified once.

Board members appreciated the young men's effort, particularly Mann's direction, of working through proper channels before going before the Board.

In view of the prospect of the voting age going to 18, these young men, young John an 18-year-old senior, for example, are in the vanguard of concerned young people whose time on earth is short, but who are expected to do so much without the seasoning of time and experience.

It is likely a minority of people between 18 and 21 will vote if they are granted the vote. But in the climate of the 18-year-old vote, these young men are likely to be in that minority and are demonstrating why they now lead Yoe High School in numerous areas and show promise of wider leadership. And that will be in a time when hair and the vote at 18 are less important to a whole generation.

We saw a lot of common sense in this discussion and confirmed a conviction that common sense isn't so common.

A More Frequent Letter . . .

Readers may tire of what we say, from time to time, but they are interested, we believe, in how many of their friends and relatives, near and far, read this newspaper.

It is not possible to wear out our "thank you" for endorsement of the semi-weekly Herald. These thanks continue to:

Shareholders Hear Annual Report From Aloca Heads

Financial records set in 1969 by Aluminum Company of America were due largely to strong demand for products and a higher level of realized prices, shareholders were told today in the company's annual report.

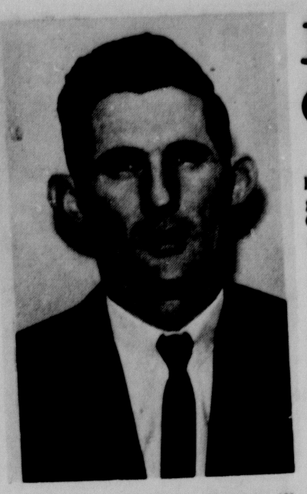
John D. Harper, president and chief executive officer, and Frederick J. Close, chairman of the board, noted that record sales and operating revenues of $1,545,239,442 were 14.2 percent ahead of 1968. The new net income mark, $122,376,498, was equal to $5.58 a common share, or 17.5 percent greater than in 1968.

They reported --

"In addition to record volume at higher prices, greater returns from Alcoa's extensive real estate and foreign investments also contributed to the company's earnings growth.

"Increased net income is particularly noteworthy in light of persistent inflation and other forces that led to substantial growth in the cost of wages, salaries, benefits, materials, services and taxes.

"Effects of such increases were in large measure offset by new successes in the continued, company-wide program of cost reduction, together with the efficiency of new and modernized facilities made possible by Alcoa's sustained program of capital investment."



ALCOA FOREMAN- George W. Malone of Minerva and formerly of Cameron is now Rodding Night Foreman in the carbon rodding department at Alcoa's Rockdale Works. Malone first joined Alcoa in 1966.

Jumpmaster Courses Set

One Hundred and twenty members of the 71st ~~Airborn~~ Brigade (Separate), Texas National Guard, will take part in two special jumpmaster courses to be conducted at Austin's Camp Mabry.

The courses will be given in two sections of two successive weekends. Sixty Guardsmen will take the training March 13-15 and 20-22, and sixty more will get their training May 15-17 and 22-24. Ten airborne-qualified Army reservists from the Austin area will also take part in each of the courses.

Instructors will be jumpmasters from the 82nd Airborne Division Advanced Airborne School at Fort Bragg, N.C. CPT James T. Unger and Staff Sargeant John E. Casprowitz will head the Fort Bragg group.

The students will learn advanced techniques in jump safety procedure and equipment inspection. Jump techniques will be reviewed.

SGT. Casprowitz said the 82nd Airborne is serving as the 71st Airborne Brigade's parent active duty unit. "We're going to integrate training. We want to keep the Guard in high state of training and efficiency," he said.

Others named to the All-District team were Dorothy Sefcik and Charlotte Moore of Academy, Georgia Forson and Debra Thurman of Milano, Shirley Bartz of Holland, and Pam Kitchens of Salado.

The Boys All-District team included Gordon Haisler of Buckholts, Jay Wise and Ethan Williams of district champion Milano, Donnie Everett and Russ McLaughlin of Salado, and John Love of Academy.
